What I learned

from the interactive theater.

First, I learned to never give up. Second, It does not matter what body you were born in. Third, dance when ever

you want to in a body

that is heavy.

What did I learn from the Interactive Theater?

I learned 3 things.

First, I learned that you should always follow your heart no matter what other people say. Second, you should always be kind to other people. Finally you should help others no matter who they are.

What did you learn at the Interactive Theater?

I learned 3 things. First, I learned to never give up. Second, I learned you can't be too big nor, too small for anything. The last thing I learned was be yourself no matter what. That is what I learned at the Interactive Theater!

What did you learn from the Interactive Theater? I learned that it doesn't matter how big or how small you are you could do what you love.

What did I learn from the Interactive Theater?

I learned three things.

First, I learned that acting is more fun than I thought it would be. Another thing I learned was I am a really good actor. The last thing I learned was kids could be actors.

What did you learn from the interactive theater?

I learned 3 things first, I learned

A play is not only the acting its the sound, costumes and the background. Next,

I learned lots of people sound good making music not and it does not sound

so good if there's only one. finally, I learned

Acting is really fun!

What did I learn from the Interactive Theater?

I learned 3 things:

First, That you're not given up on your loose hope.

Second, Is it doesn't matter what body you're born in.

Third, Is that if you want to dance don't let anything stop you.
